

Rosenberger Hochfrequenztechnik donates laptops to surrounding schools and social institutions

Fridolfing, 14.10.2020. This year, not only many employees have moved to home offices, but due to Corona, schoolchildren were no longer able to attend school in the way they were used to. Classes had to be digitalized within a very short time and held at home. A challenge that sometimes caused problems. For example, some pupils do not have the necessary hardware, i.e. laptops or computers, to be able to participate in online lessons on an equal footing. In addition, many schools lack rental equipment.

Rosenberger Hochfrequenztechnik in Fridolfing decided to help and therefore donated some laptops to surrounding schools and social institutions. The devices are in perfect technical condition, but were sorted out due to special requirements of the company network. For the new owners, the laptops make it easier for them to participate in classes and to complete tasks that are only possible to a very limited extent with a mobile phone.

All available laptops have already been handed over to the schools and institutions, which also took over the distribution based on the degree of urgency. The smiling faces of the pupils and those responsible speak for themselves.

Press picture Composing_Spenden_Laptops

Andreas Meixner, Gerald Jäger and Maxi Karg (Rosenberger Hochfrequenztechnik) at the handover to SFZ St. Zeno Bad Reichenhall, school Kirchanschöring, Diakonie Traunstein, Pidinger Werkstätten.